

York Ag Products Inc.

York Ag Products Inc is located in York, Pennsylvania and has been serving the agricultural community since 1988. Our flagship product is our York Calcium Chips® which we supply to much of the commercial egg laying industry in Pennsylvania and surrounding Mid-Atlantic region. We work with multiple calcium carbonate sources throughout the region which has established York Ag as the regional expert in sourcing quality limestone products.

Our Business

We have been locating and distributing difficult to find ingredients for the commercial feed manufacturing industry since our beginning. York Ag represents several national and international ingredient companies and provides service and support to our customers in the Mid-Atlantic region and beyond. We believe in customer satisfaction with every ingredient and every delivery, whether it is a truck load or a 50 pound bag. We, through our small staff, handle over 300 products for all species.

Our Growth

We are looking for a Sales Associate to work out of our York, PA office. This position will involve sales and support for multiple products and species but species expertise is welcome. Geography would be focused on the Mid-Atlantic region. However, we are expanding our reach into many other regions of the country. Overnight travel would be expected.

York Ag will be accepting applications until July 15, 2018. Please submit a Resume and cover letter to:
